Track I
Solution Puzzle

It turns out an invitation for thinking differently was left here.

Low expectations are not the best! Dig deeply into your satchel very much. For the party is about to get started. At last you covered your bases. Soon we will be meeting and keeping the disc dense with our victories and pool parties. We welcome the orchid age of our moody lives with looped open arms.We clean the mess ate up from the steel of our own drive. Steering the east bloc eating itself and swooping down on the fools. We must do prep else we will not be ready for the party to come. To now avow doing for ourselves what before we only needed, our hands can aces become, our eyes now greedily absorb, our minds now clasp elapsed time long been so squandered, feel the only way to a safe employment of our very enjoyment. That this reels the bait forth did not see us discouraged, our boots still stand tall, our muffin apertures at the ready to meet the fools, and our heads now rash Party on!
